ROLE AT TMS GLOBAL

Shannon serves as the chief operating officer and vice president for human resources. As a member of the executive team, she oversees human resources, information technology, facilities management, and administration. Shannon also provides expertise and guidance around strategic planning, performance management, and goal setting. She joined the home office staff in July 2017.

BACKGROUND

Prior to joining TMS Global, Shannon worked for 18 years with a nationwide nonprofit organization, serving in senior leadership positions overseeing IT, communications and marketing, facilities, and administration for a seven-state area throughout the mid-Atlantic and southeast regions of the US. She has held multiple human resources positions throughout her career, and also has teaching experience with Tidewater Community College in Virginia Beach, Virginia

Shannon is very active in her local church, a United Methodist megachurch in John's Creek, Georgia, having served in a lay capacity as chair of the administrative council and director of women's ministry for many years, during which she facilitated fundraising and missional events annually.

In 2012, she founded Shannon Mullins Ministries and produced a daily 15-minute video series entitled Living Power, which walked people through the Bible. Offered free of charge, this ministry continues to bear fruit around the world as she routinely hears from subscribers how this ministry enriches their understanding of the Bible, and helps them to develop healthy quiet time disciplines. PERSONAL

Shannon has been married to her husband Anthony for more than 25 years. In his spare time, Anthony competes as a BBQ Pitmaster, taking home trophies from Georgia BBQ Association, Florida, and Kansas City BBQ Society competition cooking events. They have one son, Tyler, who is currently completing a computer science degree at Kennesaw State University. In her spare time, Shannon enjoys Turner Classic movies, speaking at women's ministry events, and enjoys trips to the beach.
